Heartland Bank in central Ohio recently started an Internet initiative that has stretched the bank well beyond financial services.

The $260 million-asset bank in the Columbus suburb of Gahanna has launched
- although quietly - cedarstuff.com, an online purveyor of cedar hangers, shoe trees, and other paraphernalia intended to keep apparel fresh-smelling.

However, selling cedar wares is not as important to the bank as gaining first-hand experience in dealing with an online merchant platform it is offering to its commercial customers.

ABSTRACT:

Logica PLC, Adesso Software Inc, Group 1 Software and edocs Inc have joined forces to allow businesses to send electronic bills to customers via the Internet. The service would allow businesses to format Internet statements, send them electronically to consumers, and integrate them with paper billing systems and related data bases. The companies are entering a field already crowded with major banks and other companies like CheckFree. All hope to cash in on the future of billing. Billers will be able to present 70% of all bills electronically by 2005, according to Karl Duffy, vice president of Killen & Associates. Software from Group 1 is used to create bill images and targeted advertising. BillDirect software from edocs would be used to create Internet formats for the bills and send e-mail notifications.

Westmont Hospitality Selects Superclick Networks as Its Property Internet Service & Support Provider

PR NEWSWIRE (US)

March 11, 2004

JOURNAL CODE: WPRU LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: FULLTEXT

WORD COUNT: 562

LAGUNA HILLS, Calif., March 11 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Superclick, Inc. (BULLETIN BOARD: SPCK) today announced that Westmont Hospitality has selected Superclick's SIMS(TM) Internet management solution exclusively for use in all high-speed and low-speed Internet service deployments. Westmont's Director of Information Technology, Steve Montague, stated that "At Westmont Hospitality, we are committed to using proven technologies to ensure our guests have reliable and effective solutions that they demand. The Superclick SIMS(TM) solution addresses several of Westmont's needs, including universal access to the Internet via the Visitor Based Network (VBN) functionality, reduced trunking requirements by re-routing dial-up traffic off the PBX and onto the Internet where it belongs, and the ability to interact with every Internet user in the hotel through the Superclick Portal."

According to Montague, Westmont plans on placing orders for an additional thirty of its properties over the second quarter to meet the demand for high-speed Internet service. Increasingly, guests are basing their decision to stay at a hotel on whether it provides high-speed Internet in each room. This dynamic is driving growth in the marketplace and through its relationship with Westmont, and other property management groups, Superclick is becoming increasingly well positioned to expand its footprint. Superclick presently has completed fourteen installations for Westmont. Westmont holds ownership interests in approximately 250 hotels in the U.S. and Canada, and approximately 130 European hotels.

ABSTRACT: AT&T, MCI Communications and Sprint Corp are preparing their long-distance networks to provide the bandwidth that will be required by the National Information Infrastructure (NII). While cable companies and Baby Bells are establishing broadband on-ramp connections to the NII, the long distance carriers are upgrading their national networks which are to serve as the long-term backbones of the NII. The telecommunications carriers are working to provide sufficient bandwidth for interactive, multimedia services and to make it easier for wide area network users to exchange data at high speed. Sprint and MCI are also quietly participating in test projects and talking with information providers. AT&T is engaging in more aggressive planning and is looking for new opportunities that make use of its telecommunications and computer businesses.
